The Bloomfield Record.

VOL. VIII. BLOOMFIELD, N. J. FRIDAY, MAY 14, 1880. NO. 382.

ALPHA AND OMEGA.

"The first and the last" of THE BLOOMFIELD RECORD under its present management. Such is the caption we choose in penning a farewell as editor and publisher in this village. Looking back over a period of about seven and a half years, in December, 1872, we printed the following announcement:

THE BLOOMFIELD RECORD.

TO THE PEOPLE OF BLOOMFIELD AND VICINITY:

Having established a printing office in the Hedden Building, R. R. avenue, the undersigned would respectfully announce that on Thursday, January 23d, 1873, we shall issue the first number of a local and family newspaper, entitled as above. The size of THE RECORD will be 22 by 32 inches, four pages of six columns each, printed upon superior paper, from new type and material, thus insuring a neat and creditable appearance. We sincerely hope to make THE RECORD a valuable auxiliary, not only to the present wants of Bloomfield, but necessary and essential to promote her growth and development in the future; this, in brief, is our object—to attain which we expect to labor diligently, trusting that we shall be encouraged in our endeavors to serve you in this capacity. As to the tone and character of our paper, we will aim to make it an independent, racy, progressive and entertaining journal, avoiding those overdrawn, sensational characteristics of many papers of this class. It will be devoted to the home interests and local affairs of the community, irrespective of party or clique, vindicating the right, ventilating and denouncing the wrong.

In regard to the financial phase of our enterprise, we beg to state that we have carefully counted the cost, and know that we can successfully conduct this paper, not as an experiment, limited to a few months, but an established, permanent newspaper from the first number. We solicit subscriptions and advertisements, which we can reasonably do, but do not ask contributions, directly or indirectly, to insure our income or shield us from pecuniary loss. Our plan will be to endeavor to make THE BLOOMFIELD RECORD worth as much and even more than we ask for it—therefore a necessity that our citizens cannot afford to be without. This we believe to be the true key to success, and to that end will we faithfully and diligently labor.

In accordance with the above, THE RECORD was issued; and it has regularly appeared each week, and continuously under the editorial and business management of him who now issues it for the last time.

He has endeavored faithfully to perform the distinct and implied promises set forth in the prospectus. He is not afraid to reprint it now, and meet any criticism that may be made touching inconsistency or disingenuousness on his part. Mistakes he has made, and possibly has sinned more than he has been called upon to make. Yet we had rather live upon a crust, or "upon the vapor of a dungeon" than yield a particle of devotion to principle; and in taking this course, we make no surrender, or "sell out" in a sense of recreancy to those who have been disposed with us to row an independent, free-thoughted race, rather than to supinely drift along in the wake of traditionalism, favored by the trade wind of a factitious public opinion.

We give up the race with a feeling of deep regard for those subscribers and advertisers who have stood by us "through good and evil report," knowing that they deserve a better and more widely circulated paper for their money than we, situated as we are, are able to give them. We "give it up" with some regret, and yet with a feeling of relief and satisfaction—certainly with a clear conscience. "With malice toward none and charity for all" we say good bye to THE RECORD and its readers, somewhat from a sense of the duty inculcated in Matt. x, 14: believing that we are not longer called upon to preach publicly in Bloomfield the gospel of practical Christianity as we interpret its teachings. If this pointedness of speech would seem to becloud the graciousness of this farewell, we trust it will not beget anywhere unmerited sympathy for the writer at the expense of deserved patronage for his successor.

One Man's Mortgage on the Public

The Chicago Daily Telegraph thus notes the recent bond bargains of Vanderbilt:

"Society has established the code and legalized the processes by which Wm. H. Vanderbilt is enabled to be the owner of $51,000,000 United States 4 per cent. bonds. Capital invested in productive industries is subject to vexation and taxation, these bonds are not. Usury is a distinctive feature of civilization, and a curse unknown to savage life. It eats up the substance of the people, robs them of liberties, and remands them back at last to slavery, and hence and extinction. To crush the late rebellion the people were drafted into the army, their lives confiscated; but the rights of property were held far more sacred than the right to live. Since the war ended the cry has been not how restitution can be made to the masses, but how reparation can be made the money lender. To take care of the land holders more than one-third of the productive, the merchants, and the farmer were compelled to sacrifice upon the altar of their country, for liberty and the Union, time, health, limb and life, of the nearly-naked not one farthing, not even so much of a sacrifice was required as the "widow's mite."

The Scrub Race

The Central N Jersey Times thinks "it is humiliating to see General Grant in this scrub race for the Presidential nomination." It further says: "It certainly looks as if the nomination of Grant meant Republican defeat next November. Blaine's nomination will hardly promise anything better. The Republican party cannot afford to take any risk this year."

We believe "Thoughts and Events" was in some degree prophetic, when, it its closing issue, it pointed a paragraph on "President Making" in this way:

"The election of any of the present very popular candidates for the Presidency—popular with the politicians—would mean what? Why, that just so many political followers would expect to be provided for out of the public treasury, and a corresponding power of combinations to deplete it in their interests would be vested in their hands."

How Legislatures are Bribed.

This instance is not a wholesale one, but simply a sample of the insidious means that are employed by gigantic monopolies to stifle the voices of the people's representatives. It is asserted in Western newspapers that during the last session of the Wisconsin Legislature the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul Railroad issued 2,200 free passes to members of the Legislature and their friends, and the Chicago and Northwestern about 800. The former were mostly for short trips, while many of the latter were for considerable distances. A number of Representatives got as many as 100 during the session. If the reader will consider a moment he cannot fail to come to the conclusion that these "representatives" did not get those passes without rendering some equivalent and that could be in no other way than in legislating in railroad interests.

Juan Fernandez, a Spanish showman, is reported to have leased the Madison Square Garden for the purpose of exhibiting therein imitation Spanish bullfights this Summer. The exhibitor tells Mayor Cooper that the bulls are trained, and that though they follow the red flag and go through the motions of the regular Spanish bull-fight, there is no real danger to the persons in the arena. Danger or no danger, such exhibitions are brutal and degrading. What are we coming to? One need look ahead but a few years to see, in his mind's eye, Roman gladiatorial arenas established for the amusement of the people in our large cities, to meet the demands of advancing civilization.

A committee of the Protestant Episcopal Diocese of New Jersey has been appointed to arrange for the wiping out of the entire outstanding debt of the church prior to the Centennial anniversary of the Diocese, which occurs in 1883.

TO THE PUBLIC.

Mr. Phoebus W. Lyon has this day purchased from us THE BLOOMFIELD RECORD, and will hereafter be its publisher and proprietor. It will be issued next week under his control, and we cordially wish him success, believing it is his intention to make THE RECORD a first-rate local newspaper.

By the terms of sale, those of our subscribers who have paid for their paper beyond this date will recieve it as usual, under the new proprietorship, without further charge until the expiration of their subscriptions. Those who have not paid in advance will receive at once a statement from the undersigned, who will collect all amounts due for subscriptions and advertisements up to the present time. Contracts which have been made for a specified time in the future will be fulfilled by Mr. Lyon.

S. M. HULIN.

Arcadian Club.

The amateur theatricals in Library Hall, Wednesday evening last, by the Arcadian Dramatic Club, were witnessed by a large audience. The entertainment, taken all in all, was a fine success. Two pieces were represented. The first, a drama in three acts, entitled "Time and the Hour," was produced with fine effect as to scenery and other stage appointments—the best we have ever had in Bloomfield. The play, quite too "heavy" for amateur acting, was nevertheless rendered in a very creditable and satisfactory manner. Sir Philip Deverell was well personated by Mr. W. A. Van Orden. The lively characters, "Mr. and Mrs. Montgomery Brown," were the happiest delineations, and caused much merriment. The piece occupied two hours, the intervals between the acts being unavoidably long on account of rearranging the stage. The entertainment concluded with "My Turn Next"—which was uproariously rendered,—decidedly the bit of the evening. The music, by Prof. Voss' orchestra, was first-class, introducing cornet and xylophone solos.

The observance of Decoration Day in Orange by Uzal Dodd Post No. 12 G. A. R., promises to be an event of much interest this year. The Post has invited as orator of the day, Gen. H. W. Slocum of Brooklyn, also D Society of the Thirteenth Regiment, New Jersey Veterans. Gen. Slocum, who commanded the Army Corps in which the Thirteenth fought, has accepted the invitation to be present.

Mr. M. H. Clark, whose name was mentioned last week in connection with the newspaper business in this town, is making arrangements to issue a new local newspaper here next week. The publication and printing office will be located in Harvey's building, next to the Post office. The name of the paper is to be "The Bloomfield Weekly." In politics it will be Republican, but opposed to Grant.

Just out and now ready for circulation in Oancer's Circulating Library: "Loiterings Abroad," by Marion Harland; "All Aboard," by Optic; "Carried by Storm," by May Agnes Flemming; "Forest House," by Mary J. Holmes; "Heir of Charlton," by May Agnes Flemming. New books added to the Library as soon as out. Franklin Square Libraries always complete. A new assortment of stationery. A complete assortment of blank books always on hand. Headquarters for base balls, bats, and fishing tackle. At Dancer's, News Dealer and Stationer, Glenwood avenue.

STATE ITEMS.

Stephen D. Dillaye, Thomas D. Hoxsey, Jos. A. Beecher and Washington L. Hope have been chosen delegates at large to the National Greenback Labor Convention which meets in Chicago June 9th to nominate candidates for President and Vice President. The Greenback Convention for this District was held in Music Hall, Newark, on Wednesday evening, at which T. P. O'Reilly and Jas. M. Kellett were elected District Delegates to Chicago, with D. W. Wilson and C. A. Marshall as alternates.

The Grand Jury of Passaic county has found indictments against William Dalzell for manslaughter in shooting John Joseph Van Hunten, on Garrett Mountain, on Sunday, May 2, and against one man for taking part in the riot that followed the shooting. Presentments were made against the city for maintaining an insufficient police force, for granting indiscriminate licenses, and for non enforcement of the Sunday laws, and against the county for furnishing inadequate jail accommodation.

A boat containing three men drifted so near the falls in the Passaic river at Paterson on Sunday, that they were unable to control it. It was upset, and the men were rescued by Constable Riley, one of them just before he reached the brink of the falls.

LADIES! GREAT CROWDS! New York!

An immense sale has just commenced at 771 Broadway, New York, from a great Bankrupt Sale of Ladies' and Misses' Underwear, Corsets, Hosiery, Ribbons, Laces and Handkerchiefs, and will positively last only seven days. Store crowded all the time; goods going fast; only a few left for the following extraordinary bargains: Ladies' Handsome Embroidered Chemise, 25 cents—worth 50 cents; Ladies' Cluster-tucked Drawers, 39 cents—worth 65 cents; Ladies' Silk-clocked Balbriggin Hose, 14 cents—worth 20 cents. And other goods at this great sale equally as cheap. Great Bargains in forty-one Departments for Ladies, Misses and Children at the GREAT FAIR STORE 771 Broadway, corner Ninth street, (opposite A. T. Stewart's), New York. Special Bargains in Gentlemen's Furnishing Goods and Boys' Clothing and shoe Departments. Remember, this great Special Sale will last only seven days.

HAHNE & CO.

Those who desire to see a great establishment should visit Hahne & Co.'s Bazaar, 649 Broad street, Newark. To a certain extent they are the benefactors of babyhood in Newark and vicinity, for they cater for the benefit and comfort on the little darlings. The largest of children's carriages, at astonishingly low prices. Over one hundred different styles, from $3 75 upwards. Their store is the largest in the State, covering an area of 12,000 square feet. Everybody ought to see it. You can walk all over without being solicited to buy. It is visited by hundreds daily, who are always welcome, whether they come to purchase or not. They have also added to their large stock of toys, fancy and house furnishing goods, a five cent counter, which is the greatest novelty of the day, where you can buy articles for five cents which are sold all over for from ten to twenty-five cents.

HIGGINS' GERMAN LAUNDRY SOAP.

Is perfectly pure, being made of carefully selected stock, and is therefore THE CHEAPEST. Ask your grocer for it, and see that you get only the genuine article. A trial will convince you of its merits.

I call special attention to my SODA WATER this season. I use only the Artesian Well water, which is as pure and sparkling as crystal dew. Pure Soda Water is perfectly harmless and conducive to health. Marsh's will not injure the most delicate constitution. With perfectly pure water holding in solution pure Carbonic Acid Gas,—pure white sugar for the syrups,—pure juices of the fruit,—pure and and delicious Flavoring Essences made by us,—cooler always well filled with ice—Fountain, Counter and Glasses clean and sweet, and last but not least, the extremely low price—Five Cents per Glass—I do not hesitate to say that I can offer to the residents of Bloomfield through the coming summer, a strictly temperance drink, harmless, grateful and delicious, and equal to any drawn from the fountain of a Hadnut, Ditmas or Farwell. I have with me Mr. Frank Eveland, a Licensed Pharmacist, also Mr. G. F. Perron, both genial and courteous young men. The prescription department is under my personal supervision, and only registered pharmacists are allowed to dispense.

Offering inducements in QUALITY, QUANTITY and PRICE, I would solicit the patronage of residents of Bloomfield and vicinity.
